The Yacht Market Overview

The start of 2022 has been promising as the yachting industry has continued to adapt and improve their practices despite facing new challenges each month. From soaring inflation to COVID regulations, brokers have worked together to navigate the ever-changing landscape. As sales and charter bookings have continued to increase, we are confident that business will continue to progress at a steadfast pace and are ready to support our owners and clients wherever we can.

Sales

Regarding sales, trade has enormously increased as changing restrictions have had a smaller impact on operations. With greater boat visits organised and salons taking place with increased participation, there has been a consistent uptake in sales. Sales in 2021 reached an all-time record for BGYB, unmatched since its creation. Nevertheless, 2022 has shown great potential that this record can be beaten as the first four months have brought a higher number of sales. We do, however, expect things to slow down due to the recent instable international situation.

We are delighted to announce that we have concluded 12 sales since the last issue of our Episode. Notable sales include the incredible M/Y Signature 40 OCEAN SAPPHIRE and the S/Y Lutra 80 SINGULARITY, both of which were sold in December, as well as the more recent sale of the S/Y Wally 107 OPEN SEASON. With 7 sales in progress, we expect this list to continue to grow

It is also with great pleasure that we announce the additions of the following boats to our sales fleet: S/Y Swan 76 Lifting Keel SILANDRA V, S/Y CNB 93 SAVARONA, S/Y CNB 76 WINK, S/Y Nacira 67 SHAMLOR, S/Y 50^{ft} Classic JOUR DE FÊTE, S/CAT 72^{ft} LAYSAN, and the Classic Gentleman M/Ys 80^{ft} THEMARA and 60^{ft} KIWI.

Charter

Regarding charters, we experienced a successful season last summer following the easing of restrictions and the vaccination programme roll-out. Though the winter brought its challenges as restrictions tightened overseas in the Caribbean, this has not stopped clients looking towards organising their charter vacations with us this summer.

These past few months have given rise to a promising start to 2022 with calendars filling up earlier than usual. With restrictions loosening to facilitate greater international travel, we have already seen our US clients, for whom we tend to charter large motor yachts, return to plan their European summer holidays. Clients have also sought after our popular sailing yachts with dates being booked up faster than 2021. However, there is still room for long charter requests on some yachts.

We have further welcomed two new motor yachts to our Central Agency Fleet: the modern San Lorenzo 82 OLA and the classic Admiral 87 SEA SEVEN, both of which look forward to a busy summer.

While clients are beginning to quickly reserve their summer yacht charter vacations in the Mediterranean, some have even already enquired about charters in the Caribbean for this winter.

Though it is still too early in the season for most yachts' calendars to have been finalised that far in advance, the S/CAT Ipanema 58 ARAOK has confirmed that she will make the Atlantic crossing and welcomes early bookings.

We look forward to the profitable summer season ahead and welcome all charter enquiries extended to Winter 2022/23.

Marketing and Development

Last month, we welcomed two new full-time charter brokers to our team to further develop our business and marketing strategies. With one soon to be based in Palma, we are gearing towards expanding our clientele reach and attracting new clients.

We also have some exciting ongoing marketing projects with the prestigious Financial Times and Le Figaro Propriétés, which we hope will improve our brand's visibility as a high-end yacht brokerage.

On a final note, as yacht salon season begins this month kicking off with two big events in Spain, we have been making the essential preparations to ensure our attendance. We will thus be present at both the MYBA Charter Show in Barcelona and the Palma Superyacht Show 2022.

SINGULARITY

Lutra 80

SINGULARITY was built at McConaghy Yachts in Sydney in 2010 to a design by Adrian Konynendyk of Lutra Yacht Design.

Conceived to strike a balance between a comfortable cruiser and a competitive race course yacht and with an emphasis on Mediterranean racing and cruising, the sailing yacht's hull shape is optimised for reaching and features all carbon construction, canting keel, big carbon fibre rig with square-top mainsail, high-aspect rudder, bowsprit and maximum waterline. The deck layout is efficient for both purposes, with the winches clustered around the twin helm stations, close enough for good shorthanded sailing, but with enough space for a racing crew to operate. A separate cockpit forward of the working area is a great lounging space in cruising mode and takes nothing away from racing efficiency.

THEMARA

Long Range Gentleman Motor Yacht

Themara, designed by the Scottish naval architects G.L. Watson & Co. was built according to the traditional lines to Lloyds class by Ailsa Shipbuilding, Troon, Scotland in 1962.

She was previously named La Bimba, Fair Lady, Atlantis of the Seven Seas, Morning Watch and Themara. This compact ocean-going yacht has a top speed of 11.0 knots and she boasts a maximum range of 4,000 NM when navigating at cruising speed, thanks to her twin Gardner diesel engines (now completely rebuilt). She has cruised extensively in all latitudes including a circumnavigation starting in 1988. She was also a support vessel for the filming of Luc Besson's Atlantis. Her interior has been rebuilt completely using varnished mahogany, in a timeless style, with modern details added for comfort. The galley has been renewed to modern standards, in stainless steel with new appliances.

The wheelhouse is light with good visibility, the original windows restored, and all the instruments updated. The large sun deck is equipped with a modern hydraulic crane, and an outside seating area and pilot station. Themara is now anchored in Southern France, where considerable money has been spent on refitting her to a high standard of finish.

Vismara 80 Luce Guida

A combination that leads to the creation of an advanced craft in style and features where light and air are the main characters, thanks to the large windows in the hull and in the deckhouse. This craft is perfectly in line with Vismara's style, characterized with high technological standards, modern design, lightweight materials and attention to details which ensure lightness, speed, safety and livability. All furniture is a structural element, this tremendously benefits the weight and rigidity of the boat. The special carbon hull, designed with the shape of the new Vismara sport 'Meta', including an under floor lifting keel that does not interfere with the interiors and a generous sail plan, benefits not only the 'easy cruising' but also the race winning potentials.
